Events in the Social Realm

Mrs. John H. Show entertained on last Friday evening, in compliment to her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. W. Light. The event was in celebration of the honored one's birthday. About eighteen guests were in attendance. The hours were spent with merry steps to music, and refreshments added to the social evening.

About fifty were in attendance at the party held in the Methodist church parlors last Friday, and the Big Brothers proved themselves ideal hosts. Easter games, and other amusements sped the time, and refreshments were delicious and bountiful. The young ladies report an exceptionally fine time, and of course knew the boys could do it.

The annual ball given by the Knights of Columbus last Monday evening was enjoyed by about two hundred people, and the hours truly enjoyed. Music was furnished under the directorship of Mrs. Wiker and could not have been improved upon. Punch was served, and the party counted a success from every standpoint.

The members of the choir of the Christian church have planned for a pleasant evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Campbell, on Friday night, in honor of the director, John Havlik, and others who assisted in the fine musical program given last Sunday evening. made to release the mortgages since the holders' interest in them has been all but canceled. Publishers have a time-honored custom of leaving partially liquidated mortgages on record for the benefit of those who would attempt to file suits for libel and it is this fact that caused the Times to overlook their existence, although they are still a matter of record. A paper may hold a release for these mortgages, but still they must be published in the government report.

This "explanation" is both pathetic and laughable. He attempts to say that the reason the mortgages were omitted is because of an "oversight". He goes on to say, "The two debts have been practically paid"—really, the printing business must be picking up some if a mortgage for $2,500, filed on February 7 of this year, has already been "practically paid."

And last but not least, and most damning of all, is his statement that "publishers have a time honored custom of leaving partially liquidated mortgages on record for the benefit of those who would attempt to file suits for libel, and it is this fact that caused the Times to overlook their existence, although they are still a matter of record." Recently the above editor stated that he had been informed that I was going to bring suit for libel for some things he had said about me and he also said that he "was not afraid." Where does he stand?

In view of the fact that the above gentleman has made repeated attacks on me through his newspaper, that he has proclaimed himself to be the guardian of the people of Alliance, I respectfully request that you give publicity to the facts which I have set out.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) L. A. BERRY.
